A Sad Home-Other News, Etc. orrespondence of The Sentinel.

BLUNFTON, Dec. 21.—A short time ago Bluffton possessed no happier home than that of Jerry North, as he is familiarly called. A prosperous business, surrounded by every material comfort; a loving wife, a brighteyed little three year old daughter that had just become able to run and meet papa with a greeting so dear to every parent. Two weeks ago a little stranger boy was added to the household. The company was complete and all were happy. This morning the little daughter closed her eyes in death after a week's struggle with lung fever. Within an hour her infant brother joined her in her journey to a better world, thus rendering the agonized father and mother childless in one short hour. To add to the fearful affliction, Mrs. North is in delicate health and it is feared that the terrible stroke may be more than she can bear. Mr. and Mrs. North have the sympathy of all.

On Saturday last Slmon Miller, of Rockcreek township, tried to borrow a weapon to go gunning for a barber named Waterman, who he claimed had insulted his sister. Information is to the effect that friends prevailed upon him to desist. For a time there was feared that something serious might result.

A nephew of T. Enright, esq., who resided with him. died last night. Spinal meningitis was the disease. lyoung man, and highly esteemed by his acquaintances.

The spire of the M. E. church here is surmounted by a gilded cross. This government relative to the affairs in | perhaps is what caused a mistake on the part of two strange Irishmen, presumably of the Catholic faith, They entered the church Sunday morning just before services began, made the sign of the cross, and bowed as they entered the inner door. Having sat awhile they discovered their mistake and quietly departed.

News From the City. Correspondence of The Sentinel. A very serious accident occurred in our city last Saturday evening, the frcts of which, briefly told, are as follows: Mrs. Mrrgaret Gaynor, a lady seventy years of age, was crossing a street, in the second ward, when she was knocked down and ran over by some horses, ridden by young fellows named William Simons and his brother, and anothee named Helms. It was found the old lady was dangerously a comatose condition, her life being despaired of. Even at this writing it is uncertain what will be the result. The young fellows were arrested, and William Simons was bound over for appearance at the December term of the circuit court, while the other two were fined for violation of a city ordinance against fast driving. Should the lady not recover, her death will have been brought about, by a thing within the next six months. John C. Gould, general manager of the Wabash, arrived in Toledo from St. Louis, Sunday morning. H. C. Townsend, general passenger agent of the Wabash railway, in company with General Manager Gault, arrived at Toledo Sunday morning from St. Louis.

Railroad conductors state that passenger travel falls off one-eighth of the usual run on Fridays of every week. This is supposed to be caused by the old supposition that Friday is an unlucky day for traveling. A "Railroad Women's Union" has been established at Cleveland, O., in connection with the work of the Railroad Men's Christian Association there. The object is the care and rerailroad men.

It does not look as though there is to be any settlement of the western reilroad war in the near future. The Alton people absolutely refuse to enter any meeting until the Wabash ceases to charge $1 less from Chicago than other roads.

Never before in the history of railroading in the west have western railroad officials been in such a dilemma as how to furnish cars or to mov the property offered, and at the pres enttime, when there are not half uough cars to carry the through business, there has come up a pressing 'de-points. The gross earnings of filty railroads reporting for November aggregate $22,266,012 against $18,340,852 for the same month of 1879-an increase of $4,038,743. Five of these roads, however, report a decrease aggregating $113,583, which reduces the net increase to $3,925,160. These earnings were based on a mileage of 34,-874 miles in 1880 against 30,324 miles

The Wabash railroad recently organized a surgical department, consisting of local surgeons on the lines lately built and acquired by that Company east of the Mississippi river. So far as know no road has a department like this. Dr. J. T. Woods, of Toledo, is chief surgeon, and the plan has proved so far a success. The treatment of employes and all meeting with accidents is free of expense.

There is another grain blockade at

The greatest interest was of course centered in Mrs. Scott Siddons' rendition of the part of Lady Teazle Those who have had the good fortune to hear her read selections from the part went there to see and hear something good, and it is quite safe to say they were not disappointed. The flippant, sharpe-tongued woman of fashion was finely portrayed, and Sheridan's witicisms lost nothing of their point in her hands. But this was not all. Mrs. Siddons proved, in the scene where she refuses to be party to the mendacity practiced on her husband by Joseph Surface, that she was capable of assuming a certain emotional dignity which was quite touching."

THE Indianapolis Journal is at fault n saying that the house of representatives has set a new precedent in the matter of granting pensions to civilians, for disability incurred while serving the government in a civil capacity. The house of representatives has done no such thing. The act for the relief of Parker, to which the J. urnal refers, is by no means the first of its kind, and therefore follows, rather than sets a precedent. Besides, Parker did not, as the Journal says, receive his injuries while employed on a railroad employed by the government in the transportation of military, stores," but he received them while, acting to some capacity on a railroad that the government had taken possession of and was operating on its own account. Under these circumstances Parker had no right of recourse upon the railroad company, nor was the company under any obligation to him. A Father Sells His Daughter's Body

A hiply respected physician is authority for the following story of almost unbelievable depravity. An old man, in this city, depends for support upon the work of his daughter—his only child. He was not worthy of, that support for he master slave to that most hideeus of harsh masters, the whicky bottle. He made no effort to earn an honest living for himself, but was an almost constant deweler at whisky ehops and dosing corners. His daughter went out to new, and her father compelled her, every day, to give him a quarter to buy liquor. With that money he. always went out evenings to his " coin;" "his health, blow his brains into whisky, and jugs, leaving bis child, tired and tear ful, in a frequently cold, dark house. By her toil she secured a rewing machine at home, She did everything in her power to draw her father out from. the folds of the monster that with a thousand arms was dragging him. down. The neighbors reasoned with. him and scolded him, but of no avail. He regularly slept in a gutter or crawled home from some, saloon in the morning, to bear to his poor girl the sight of "the old man drunk again." One day when all the streets of Oleveland were covered with ice, the daughter slipped and fell near the public square. She was , picked up, badly injured and carried to one of the hospitals. Her fall was too much for her frail system, weakened and run down by unceasing toil, poor, food, cheerless days and nights of sorrow.

'For several days she tossed in fever. and, although kindly eared fer, she finally died. The father missed her. daily pittance for his rum, and pawned the sewing machine to buy more liquor. The poor, dead girl was duried we quietly, no one going to the pauper's grave, INCHER SHAUM. Alderman and Astral Ranges before yard except the undertaker and the you buy one. He sold it there for a miserable pittance—a few dollars with which again he went to kneel down before the frightful idol to whom he had offered up health, happiness, home, his only child, and his own soul. Humanity so sunk is-happily seldom seen. With the price of his faithful daughter's body that man, the physician says, is even now! debauching himself.-Cleveland Leader.

A Veny Strauge Case. A German named A pler died in the New York hospital last week who had. been admitted two weeks previously. He had had an attack of vomiting which lasted three days, and about a week, before his admission ... began to have pains all over his body. He thought he was suffering from rheumatism, and it was to be treated for that affliction that he west to the hos pital. He was put under the care of Dr. Moller, who found that the usual symptoms of the "rheumatism were absent. Dr. Moller suspected trichinosis and qustioned the patient, who told him that he was a butcher and had been in the habit of eating raw pork. The next day Dr. Moller extracked a little muscle from the patient's shoulder, put it under the microscope and found trichinæ in it. The pains of which Axler had complained when admitted continued for three days, and then left him with a slight fever. A week before he died he became delirious, could not sleep without medicine, and was unable to take any nourishment. He gradually became more and more exhausted and died on Saturday last. On Saturday a post-mortem examination was made by Professor Janeway and Dr. Moller. The various muscles were full of triching and a mother-worm was found in the intestines, its body being full of young which had not yet been discharged, in one grain of muccle afteen trichinge were found, and Professor, Janeway and Dr. Moller estimated that there is were fully 50,000,000 of them? in the body. Candies are being brought to the sity by the ton, to sweeten the youngters for another year.

Batchelder, the candy man, has a andy house in his window on the corner of Barr and Wayne streets. The big snow did not pan out after all, and the boys who invested in cutters are still longing for a large supply of the beautiful. A lady's hat was found on the Huntington road on Sunday last. It can be had at Delphos Morton's residence near Huntington. The first annual hop and game supper of the Bear Lake shooting club at Arion Hall Thursday evening, Dec. 30, promises to be one of the grandest affairs of the season. George Strodel has a new pony, but cannot find any one who can engineer its movements in a successful manner, as the pony has ideas of its own as to the way it should go. O. T. Letcher, a heavy stock and produce dealer, of Bryan, Ohio. was robbed of $9,500 yesterday by some ne who entered his house in such manner as to leave no trace behind. Don't fail to see the crystal palace all made of pure candy, at Batchelders, 93 Bass street, corner of Wayne. All candies reduced for Christmas.

A special train of four cars, con taining silk-worms, shipped from France, and destined for San Francisco, passed through the city this morning on the Fort Wayne read. They were valued at $400,000.

Ben. Blake, the Columbia street barber, hired a boy to learn the trade and at the first opportunity the boy walked off with the contents of the till-twenty-five cents, and a new razor. He is a graduate.

Mr. Frey, who brought the demented Swede to our city, has returned to Uhicago, but placed enough funds in tne hands of Marshal Deihl to defray Morey's expenses back to Chicago if it is found that he does not belong

A man by the name of Wilson bad pair of boots repaired at the shop of Mr. Zollar's absence from the shop, Wilson carried off the boots and the probabilities are that he will now pay the price of a couple of pair of boots to settle the matter.

A cutting affray occurred in the boarding house of John Kenark, No. 26 Murray street, Sunday morning, between two boarders over a box of blackening and a shoe-brush. One of the boarders, named Smith, cut one name McGrath twice in the right arm had enough to lay him up for a couple of weeks' repairs at the City hospital.

Mike Welch, the genial day clerk of the Aveline house, was the fortupate possessor of the licket which drew the $140 horse in a raffle yesterday. Mike will now hold the ribbons he dashes down Berry street at the rate of a mile an hour-there is no doubt but that the horse can make that time easily.

Yesterday's first instalment of the Canada man's prognostic of an eleven foot snow fall does not pan out. as well as it was expected to when it set in. That of yesterday and last night put together hardly make up an average Fort Wayne snow, which rarely exceeds a half floger nail in depth, under the most favorable conditions, and it usually takes from two to three days for that. Great in a'more all desirable things, Fort Wayne is extremely limited in her capacity for deep soows.

Anuther Candidate.

Stiveral days ago Mr. Neirleter, of the Avenue house, engaged a young man, who claims to hail from Canton, Ohio, as clerk at his place. He appeared to be industrious and honest, and di scharged his duties faithfully. Yester lay afternoon, at about 2 o'clock, the clerk was missed from the house, and a suspicion entered the mind of Mr. Neirelter that all was not right, and he immediately commenced looking over his valuables only to find that his wife's watch and chain and a gold vent chain and charm belonging to himself were gone with the clerk. The value of the articles stolen amount to son'e $200, and Mr. Neireiter feels his 'loss very much, not only on account of the value of the articles taken, but they were presents also. The police were immediately put upon the track of the youth, but he has thus far escaped capture.

Police Court. George Neff, of No. 54 Oakley street, filled himself full of bug juice yesterday, and last evening turned his family, a wife and eight children, out on the sidewalk, and left them to be cared for by their neighbors. Mr. Neff is a hard-working and rather industrious German citizen, and a kind citizen when sober, but gets on periodical drunks, when he abuses his family in a shameful manner and apologizes for his conduct when sober. Last night Officer McCann brought George to the cooler, and this morning his wife and a son appeared in police court and told their story to his hopor. George did not deny anything, and said he was sorry and ashamed of himself to thus cause his wife and family so much trouble, and gave s promise of better conduct in the future. Mayor Zollinger gave the man a lecture that he will not son forget, and fined him $15, in lieu of which he would have to go to jail for twenty days, but after a brief consultation with Mrs. Neff suspended judgment in order to give him a chance to redeem his manhood and character. The marshal carries a mitimus in his pocket ready to take George across the way, should he again get on a drunk.

No affidavits were filed against the parties who have been throwing ashes, etc., into the streets. There is a lamented lack of backbone somewhere.

A Dog Story. Ben Blake, the colored barber, was untering down Calhoun street Sunday morning chewing his "cud" and reflecting on the probabilities of whether Santa Clause would remember him or not, when the large Newfoundland dog belonging to Friend's clothing store suddenly interrupted his meditations by appearing in his pathway. The dog stood and wagged his tail at Ben in the most Friend-ly manner, but Ben thought it a hostile demonstration and searched his coat pantaloon and vest pockets for his gun in order to show the dog how a gentlaman would treat him for his dogged manner in thus blocking up the sidewalk and interrupting a promenader on the highways of the city. But, alas, Ben could find no revolver, nor did he even have a festive razor in his pocket with which to vindicate his honor, so he simply said, "d-n that dog," and the dog walked away. Now, another colored gentleman had watched this little trouble from afar and, at its termination, approached Ben, who drew himself up and, with a look of scorn on his face and fire flashing from his eye, remarked, "If George Zollar at a cost of $1. During I'd had a revolver that dog would now be numbered with the slain." 'Yes," remarked his friend, "but you are a fool; the dog took you for a gut factory." Never a word did Ben reply but folding his ulster around, his manly form he walked majestically Translated From "Le Siecle," Paris, France, November 28, 1880.

The General Assembly of the State of Indians, one of the most flourishing States of the republic of the United States, on the 29th of March of the last year, decided to establish a special Bureau charged with the collection of all statistical facts that might interest the commerce, population, natural history, etc., of Indiana.

Mr. John Collett, whose scientific works are well known, was placed at the head of this Bureau, which comprises altogether ten members, among whom we remark a certain number of savants. Within a few months the Bureau collected a mass of facts of great interest, which are given to the public in a large volume of more than 500 compact pages, entitled "First Annual Report of the Department of Statistics and Geology of the State of Ludiana, 1879."

The first chapter carefully studies the soil, vegetable and mineral productions, and the commercial advantages of Indiana. With the exception of about 100 rages the volume is composed exclusively of statistical tables very clearly made out. The first relates to agriculture; one of them, for example, gives the number of bushels per acre, and year by year, from 1873 to 1879, of corn, wheat and oats produced in each of the counties of Indiana; another shows the number of lomestic animals, as horses, mules, attle, calves, sheep, hogs, etc.; again as tother shows the number of bushels po tatoes, all kinds of fruit, onions, etc.; still another the number of pou nds of wool, tobacco, hops, sugar, etc.; also the number of barrels of salt beef, pork, cider, wine, vinegar, etc., and another the number of pianos in ea ch locality, of bee hives, sewing may hines, of billiard tables, of dogs, of sta ne quarried, etc.

There an a special tables for each kind of dea lers of manufactures; for example, tab. le No. 30, of eight pages relating to a hoes and boots, gives the number of she semakers, etc., the capital employed, the value of the raw material and p, roduction, the number of employes, the ' wages, taxes, insurance, etc., for ea ch city add township

All other inda stries are treated in the same way. This is a work of high value, and does the greatest honor to the Bureat of Statistics of Indiana.

It would be desiral le that this example should be folk wed here, not only in Paris, but in all our counties departments. We feel sure that such a work cannot fail to influence the commercial and industria, future of a
